Patients across Europe deserve access to the treatments they need. We've outlined eight steps towards a successful European Security of Supply Strategy in the context of the EU Pharmaceutical Strategy.

1. A modern and robust regulatory framework

2. Enhanced support for global supply chains to contribute to treatments EU patients need

3. A manufacturing-friendly environment

4. Cross-region collaboration to ensure the highest quality standards

5. Incentives for manufacturers to ensure supplies, rather than penalties

6. A harmonized definition of shortages and standardized reporting requirements

7. Permanent, action-oriented dialogue with EMA, NCAs, pharmaceutical industry and all supply chain actors

8. Pricing that takes into account the value delivered to patients, the health system and society overall
